"Laugh and Grow Fat."

Life is such a serious business with the average mortal that an opportunity for a hearty laugh is more than welcome to most people. "A merry laugh doeth good like a medicine," and so do the humorous features of that great metropolitan daily, The Chicago Record Herald. The first thing that greets you on the first page of every issue is the humorous cartoon by Ralph Wilder, the well-known artist, that frequently tells more at a glance than could be conceived in a column of reading matter. Every issue contains also a humorous small story on the editorial page, and the "Alternating Current" column, written by S. E. Kiser, one of the most popular humorous writers in the country. In addition to all these, the Sunday issue always includes a comic section guaranteed to produce laughter.

MATRIMONIAL.

Numerous Weddings During the Past Few Days.

One Bride Gone to Dover, Maine— Couple of County People Married in Clarksville.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Q. L. Hisgen, of 303 Brown street, this city, Thursday evening. The contracting parties were Mr. J. Mark Robbins, a well-known young man formerly of Boston, but now a prosperous business man of Dover, Me., and Miss Lelia Beatrice Wicks, of Hopkinsville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. C. Beckett, pastor of the Universalist church, at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives. The best man was Mr. Rodney E. Marshall, a New York newspaper man. The bride was attended by Miss Netalea Parker, of Ft. Worth, Texas. The bride was becomingly gowned in muslin de soie. She carried day-break pinks and diamond egrets adorned her hair. Miss Ella Wicks, sister of the bride, acted as flower girl. She was attired in pink muslin de soie.

After the ceremony a tempting wedding lunch was served by Mrs. Hisgen to the relatives and a few friends.

Miss Wicks is well known, has a host of friends, and for the past four years has been connected with the Christian county court clerk's office.

Mr. Robbins is a well known and popular young man from the East. For the past four years he has been connected with the firm of W. L. Blake & Co., of Portland, Me., as traveling salesman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbins left on the Friday morning train, amid showers of rice and confetti and the good wishes of friends, for St. Louis. After a short stay in the fair city they will tour to Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia, Pa., and New York city. They will make their home for the present with Mr. Robbins' mother, Mrs. C. E. Morse, Dover, Me.

Dulin-Shaw.

Geo. L. Dulin and Miss Ina Shaw, of near Laytonsville, were married at the home of the bride Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Rev. W. F. Cashman of this city, performed the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of the late James Shaw, and a cousin of G. Dennis Shaw, of this city. The groom is a son of the late Lot Dulin.

Stewart-Tinsley.

S. J. Stewart and Miss Ruth Tinsley, of this county, were married in Clarksville Thursday. They went to Guthrie, where they spent the day, and then proceeded to Clarksville where the nuptial knot was tied.

HOPKINS COUNTY FAIR

Special Train From This City Three Days.

The Hopkins county fair will be held this week at Madisonville beginning today. There will be a special from Hopkinsville to Madisonville Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 28, 29 and 30, leaving here at 8:30 a. m. Returning, this special train will leave Madisonville at 6 p. m. One fare for the round trip, plus 25c.

Concerning the fair this year the Hustler says:

When the gates of the great Hopkins county fair are thrown open next Tuesday morning the people will have an opportunity of witnessing the most wonderful effort ever made to give a fair in this section of the state. All the favorite pastimes of old, with hundreds of new spectacular events will be there to furnish amusement and pleasure for the people. It will be one week of continuous pleasure, one week where the spirit of carnival will reign supreme, a time when all will forget their troubles and cares and have a good time mingling with their neighbors and friends and at the same time enjoy the many fine shows and attractions which the management of the fair has secured.

An Unmailed Letter.

An interesting and almost tragic story of an unmailed letter comes from Worcester, Mass. It is a story of true love, with fruition long deferred, because of the forgetfulness of a man who should have mailed a letter. Nearly fifteen years ago Howard Harris wrote a letter to his sweetheart, who lived on a farm near Worcester, asking her to be his wife. This sweetheart loved Howard devotedly, and after waiting a few days, so as not to appear too eager or too easily won, she wrote a sweet reply, agreeing to marry him, and gave the letter to her brother to mail. But Howard waited in vain for an answer. No letter came. He felt that he was rejected, and was hurt by the silence which implied a contempt. But he still loved, and after a year of waiting he resolved to try again. He wrote the young woman another letter, avowing his constant love, despite the discouragement which oppressed him, and urging her still to consent to be his wife. The young woman had also waited for a letter which did not come in reply to her consenting epistle, and when days, weeks, and months passed without a word from her lover, she was naturally indignant. So when, after the lapse of a year, a letter came, she, in her wounded pride, threw the missive unread in the fire. Apparently the incident was closed. Apparently this young man and young woman, who still loved each other, were destined to live apart and be nothing to each other. Meanwhile, the brother who had forgotten to mail his sister's letter died, and one day, nearly fifteen years after the ill-fated letter was written, the sister, looking through some of her brother's old clothing, found the missing letter in the lining of a coat, where it had slipped through a hole in the pocket. What was to be done? Burn the old letter and sear with a deeper scar a painful memory? Not so. Being a sensible woman, and knowing that her former lover was still unmarried, she wrote to him and told him about it, explaining why he had not received her answer in the first place, and why she had not read his second letter. It was a strange, yet simple story, and was an explanation that was due. The rest of the story is easily told. They were married. But the young man who forgot to mail the letter gave them lots of trouble.
